COLLECTIVE DESIGN UNVEILS

EXHIBITION FOCUS

Metropolis X COLLECTIVE DESIGN

On February 4, Collective Design announced plans to feature Japanese design firm Nendo for the Collective Influence exhibition that will be held at this year's fair in New York City. Collective Influence is an annual presentation within the fair that highlights the exceptional work and career-long impact of a single creative force.

Nendo will debut an immersive exhibition of new work at Collective Design that leads visitors from the fair's entrance to its center. The installation reveals the design team's creative process, displaying variations on themes of volume, form, and materiality and encompassing a new exploration of objects and lighting. The exhibition will run May 4 to 8 at Skylight Clarkson Sq during NYCxDESIGN. Metropolis is proud to announce its media partnership with Collective Design.
